Peres School To Have Playground Supervisor For Childrens Games

Announcement was made yesterday by "Doc" Seawright, recreational director of the Richmond schools, that a playground director would be engaged for the Peres school. The new drector will assume his duties Monday.

F. S. French, superintendent of the Peres school, has been named as the man for the job. French will do the work in addition to his regular school duties. He will be on duty every afternoon after school, and will spend all day Saturday.

School authorities expressed the wish that the people living in the vicinity of the Peres school, would see that the opportunity was taken advantage of by their children.

It is hoped that in the near future more directors will be added to the playground department, and that facilities can be arranged so that all the children of this city will be able to take part in the pleasures offered by such diversion.

So far there are two playground directors in the Richmond schools: G. D. Miner of the Grant school, and French, recently appointed.

The Richmond Radio club held its first meeting of the new year last night for the purpose of installing the newly elected officers. Those who took their places in official capacity were: A. Neu, president; B. Freck, vice president; C. Hohen, secretary, Ed. Pohe, instructor.

Immediately after the installation proceedings a discussion of very short wave lengths, from 5 to 29 meters, was entered into. The short wave lengths are the latest for sending and receiving among amateurs.

The purpose of the Radio club is to instruct and answer general questions concerning radio and the operation of radio sets. Any member or non-member may bring a set that is not working correctly to a meeting of the club and it will be gone over and an effort made to make it function properly.

The Radio club is becoming very popular, there now being 35 members and the number is increasing steadily. All meetings of the club are open to the public except business meetings which are held on the first Thursday of each month.

Year's Divorces Show Small Gain

Divorces and suts for annulment of marriages in Contra Costa during 1924 showed only a light increase over those of 1923 and failed to keep pace with the increase of other departments of court business, according to the records of County Clerk J. H. Wells. In 1924 there were 197 divorce actions against a total of 188 in 1923.

There was a general increase of court business in all departments during 1924.

Civil cases increased from 582 in 1923 to 619 in 1924; criminal cases increased from 70 in 1923 to 77 in 1924; the increase of probate cases was from 225 in 1923 to 246 in 1924; increase in juvenile cases was from 50 in 1923 to 70 in 1924.

PROTESTS BY BRITAIN HALT GUN ELEVATION

American Fighting Craft Revealed Inferior By Startling Disclosures

2 STATE SECRETARIES TALK

Strength of American Navy Below That of England, Wilbur Declares

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6—The mask of secrecy behind which powerful forces have blocked all efforts of Congress to strengthen the naval defenses of the Government was stripped away in a sensational hearing of the House naval affairs committee today.

The fact was disclosed that British protests against raising the elevation of guns on American warships to a range comparable to those of the British and Janpanese navies have been effective in checking American legislation to increase the gun range.

It was further revealed that although the American naval strength is not far below the 5-5-3 ratio permitted under the arms conference treaty, this is only a "yard stick" measurement and that both in range and in speed the American fighting craft is inferior to those of the British and Japanese.

ECONOMY CITED

President Coolidge's economy program was also shown to be responsible for the failure of the Navy department to proceed with recommendations for modernization of the navy.

These startling disclosures, revealing the weakened condition into which the once proud American navy has fallen, was made to the committee by letters which were addressed to Chairman Butler by Secretary of State Hughes and Secretary of the the Navy Wilbur. They were amplified by oral testimony given by Secretary Wilbur at the hearing.

Poll Tax Revenue To Go To State

During a meeting in Sacramento yesterday of the legislative committee of the County Assessors' Association and officials of the state school department, it was brought out that the money to be collected under the educational poll tax amendment, adopted in the November election, by the various counties, although it must be paid into the state treasure, was suggested that in the legislation necessary to make the measure effective, a way probably will be found to route the funds back to the counties for the purpose of relieving the tax burden of the general property owner. The meeting was attended by Assessor George Meese, who is a member of the assessors' legislative board.

Just how the fund transfer will be accomplished remains to be worked out. Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction and other school officials favor this plan as against applying the revenue from the poll tax to relieve the general fund of the state with reference to appropriations for school purposes.

It was also brought out at the conference that the members of the assessors' legislative committee favor the minimum tax possible under the amendment, which is $5 per year.

Budget Planned by High School Body

The commissioners of the Richmond Union high school student body, held a meeting yesterday to determine the budget for this term. The money from which the budget is taken, is derived from the student body dues that are collected from the students.

MEASURE GIVEN BIG MAJORITIES IN BOTH HOUSES

In Assembly Vote Is 68 to 10 in Favor of Amendment and 36 to 3 in Senate

RICHARDSON IS VINDICATED

All Day Battle Precedes Poll of Legislature; Foes Lose at Every Point

(By Universal Service)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—By overwhelming majorities in both houses the State Legislature today ratified the child labor amendment to the Federal constitution.

In the Assembly the vote was 68 in favor of the amendment and 10 against it. The count concluded an all day fight in which opponents of the measure were bowled over at every point of attack.

In the Senate the vote was still more decisive, the roll call showing 36 for the amendment with but three Senators recorded as voting "no."

From the time that Governor Richardson sent the official meassage to the Assembly until the last minute of debate in the upper house the situation was watched and checked by a host of women from all parts of the State gathered here to make the campaign for the children of the nation.

Announcement Submitted

Early in the morning it became known that the Governor had decided to stick to his original plan of submitting the formal announcement from Washington requesting action on the amendment.

The big fight opened when Assemblyman Frank Weller of Los Angeles introduced the resolution of ratification and asked for unanimous consent to consider the bill without going to committee. Assemblyman George Cleveland of Wasonville objected and Weller asked for a roll call. The vote was 58 to 18 in favor of suspension of the rules. That defeated the initial attempt at delaying action.

The debate waxed hot, but the opposition was getting positive knowledge that the vote if it could not be stopped today would be heavily for ratification, and so it proved upon the roll call.

During the debate, the Assembly chamber was filled with a large number of visitors, including many of the senators. That body had recessed at noon to await the action of the Lower House.

As soon as the Assembly had voted, the Senate was reconvened and went at once into action upon the receipt of the Assembly joint resolution as it passed the Lower House.

WORLD WAR FOREIGN DEBT COMMISSION

February 9th, 1922, President Harding approved an act creating what is known as the World war foreign debt commission to negotiate with the several counties who borrowed money from the United States to conduct the war, for adjustment and refunding of the several debts. The commission consists of five—the secretary of the treasury, Secretary Hoover, Secretary Hughes, Senator Smoot and Representative Burton. The nominations were confirmed April 10, 1922, despite efforts to prove that under the Constitution and the law, neither Senator Smoot nor Representative Burton were eligible.

In February 1923, the commission reported an agreement with Great Britain for the refunding of that country's debt to the United States amounting to $4,600,00,000, by the delivery of bonds to that amount to the United States treasury bearing three per cent interest for ten years, and three and one-half per cent for the balance of the 62 years the life of the bonds. The payments will be $23,000,000 for the first year, and increase annually until the sixty-second year the last payment will be $175,000,000.

Settlement with Finland, Hungary, Lithuania and Poland are on the same basis—Finland's bonded debt $9,000,000; Poland's bounded debt $178,565,000; Hungary's bonded debt $1,900,000; Lithuania's debt $6,030,000.

The president and the secretary of the treasury have asked congress to extend the life of the committion to February 9, 1927, two years more.

DOUBLE TAXATION

International aspects of taxation, which present even more complications than taxation considered purely as a domestic question, between James S. Douglas and the state tax commission, will be taken up by the taxation committee of the American section of the international chamber of commerce in anticipation of the discussion of the problem at the forthcoming meeting of the chamber at Brussels.

The question is also under consideration by the economic and finance committee of the League of aNtions and is being studied by the finance department of the chamber of commerce of the United States.

The subject is one of particular moment to large commercial and industrial organizations in the United States which maintain selling agencies and assembling stations abroad, Some of these, not only pay heavy taxes at home, but, in some cases, proportionately higher taxes in foreign countries where they are doing business.

The double taxation committee, of the international chamber, considered the problem at a meeting early this year and expressed the opinion the "present state of fiscal legislation in the different countries impose upon international commerce and industry taxes which individually are already high and, taken together, constitute burdens so heavy that they paralyze the development of international trade and consequently threaten to endanger the prosperity of nations."

From the discussions among the various national committees, two methods of procedure have evolved. One is to select concrete individual cases of hardship and attempt to remedy these. The other method advocated is to attempt to formulate general principles as soon as possible which, if adopted by the various countries, would obviate the present difficulties.

PHILIPPIENES HAVE PROSPEROUS TRADE

Under the protection and wise guidance of the United States, the Philippine Islands are enjoying a highly satisfactory merchandise trade. In the last pre-war year the total trade of the Philippine Islands was al ittle over $101,000,000. In 1923 that trade reached a total of $208,550,000, and for the current year it is expected to reach $240,000,000. The share of the United States in that trade during 1923 was 65 per cent, compared with 13 per cent at the close of the Spanish domination of the islands. From the beginning of American rule in 1899 to 1913, the total trade of the islands showed a fairly steady advance year by year with an average yearly total trade of $67,000,000. When all the world was buying madly in 1920 the Philippine foreign trade reached a record figure $300,560,000.

In 1922 there was a decline in total trade, a symptom which was world-wide. That year the Philippine trade fell to less than $176,000,000. The readjustment, lately becoming more and more pronounced, was discernible, and the relation of exports to imports for that year left $15,385,000 to the credit of the islands business. The year 1923 showed a still further recuperation in commercial activities which resulted in the trade above mentioned, yield a credit balance to the island of $33,253,000. Trade for the current year will probably yield a somewhat similar balance.

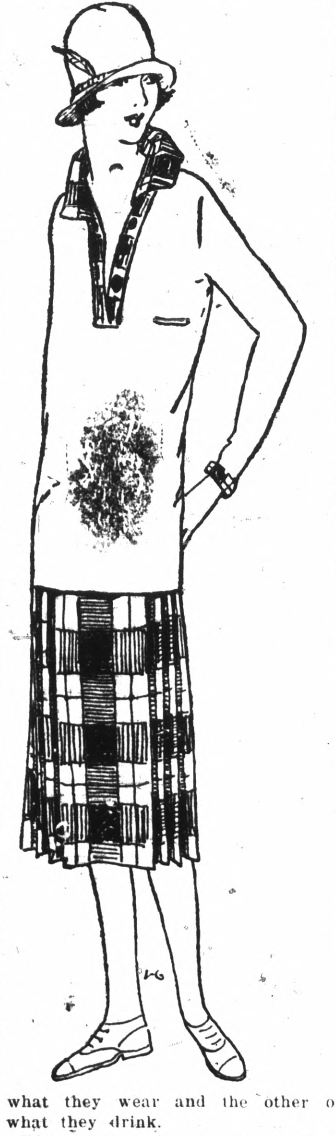
It Is a Smart Fad to Wear The Scotch Tartan To Which Your Inheritance Entitles You.

SAY Scotch to most Americans and they will thing of whisky, while the French equivalent of this adjective, ecossais, for hundreds of years has been the only French equivalent for our word plaid. Perhaps this is interesting commentary on the two races—French and American that one should think first of what they wear and the other of what they drink.



Though several very distinguished French men and women have had Scotch blood in their veins, there is a much more plentiful infusion of Scotch blood in native-born Americans, Empress Eugenie, you know, was of Scotch as well as Spanish decent, and it was because of her influnce that Scotch plaids came into French fashion about the middle of the last century.

If you have any Scotch roots to your family tree, by all means make the most of them now. You may not be interested in genealogy, but if you want to enjoy this fad for Scotch plaids while it lasts, then be sure and find out to what clan your Scotch ancestors—however remote—belonged. And then wear the tartan to which you are really entitled. If you claim kinship with the McDonells, the "set" to which wou are entitled is a plaid predominately green with narrow checks of red, while the Greearachs may sport a plaid of red with narrow black stripes. There are dozens of them, not to be chosen according to personal preference, but according to infusion of Scotch blood.

In some of the shops you may find a lavish stock of soft wool scarfs in the authentic Scotch plaids, with a little printed slip attached to each that tells the name of the clan. And it is possible by taking a little trouble to find material for skirts and frocks showing the different clan tartans.

WHERE IT STARTED

MAVERICK

When the West was less settled than it now is, and cattle roamed for in search of pasture, branding was necessary as a means of identification. One of the great cattle barons, named Maverick, trusted his neighbors to the extent of refusing to brand his cattle—a trust that brought about his ruin. Since then an unbranded steer has always been called a "maverick," and is the property of the first finder who brands him.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

ARE YOU THE MATER TYPE?

PLENTY of women who never have any children seem always to belong to the mother type of women, and there are some women to whom the having of children seems to bring very few of the real mother characteristics. Some women, in fact almost all women at some time, have a motherly regard for the men they love and marry. I have even seen very young girls who entertained a real motherly regard for their own fathers, taking solicitous care concerning the father's physical comfort and well being.

Among the most primitive attributes of the real mother type are a desire to feed and provide shelter or protective clotheing. Some women seem to keep forever watching out to see that their associates are warmly clad, to look out for rubbers on rainy days, to suggest neck scarfs and to warn others against drafts. Some women of the motherly type never feel quite content to receive friends in their homes without urging the callers to eat. And there is something really maternal in this.

THE TASTE FOR MACARONI

Macaroni has for years been the chief starchy food of Italy, and for centuries while the French people ate bread and the English people ate porridge and pudding, the Italians ate macaroni. Now, of course, English and Americans and almost all the world besides have taken to eating bread—white bread and rolls of the sort that seems to have originated in France.

Macaroni is becoming more and more popular here in America, but interestingly enough when we eat macaroni we seem to think that we must also eat bread, and possibly potatoes besides. When the Italian makes a meal of macaroni with tomato sauce, a little cheese and some salad or fruit, he is getting a perfectly balanced meal.

Penny Company Pays Insurance

M. E. Hazelton, manager of the Richmond branch of the J. C. Penny company, announced today that Ray Crispell, widower of the late Mrs. Emma Crispell, was presented with an insurance check of $936 shortly after the death of his wife, who was an employee of the company for 15 months prior to her decease. The payment was in line with the company's policy of insuring each employee for a year's salary without cost to them.

Hazleton announced that the 700 employees of the J. C. Penny company are all protected by this insurance. The fund is maintained by a certain amount paid into the general fund by each store.

One Wife on Approval

by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA LELAND'S husband, Jim has gone to Honolulu shortly after their marriage, following a misunderstanding with his wife, and has taken his mother with him, leaving Cynthia to face the disapproval of her sister-in-law,

LOUELLA, and all her world. Cynthia turns to

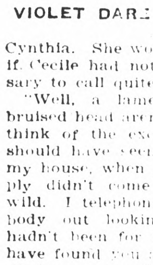
TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXXIV—LIFE GROWN STALE

"MY dear, it's the most thrilling thing I ever heard of!" Cecile Malcolm was calling on Cynthia the day after the latter's return home. "Lost in the woods, and rescued—and with the most interesting man in town as your companion! Life could hold nothing greater, if I were in your shoes. Incidentally, how's your shoulder?"



VIOLET DARE

"Just awfully lame," answered Cynthia. She would have been glad if Cecile had not thought it necessary to call quite so soon.

"Well, a lame shoulder and a bruised head aren't much, when you think of the excitement. But you should have seen the rest of us at my house, when you and Noel simply didn't come home. We were wild. I telephoned and had everybody out looking for you; if it hadn't been for the blizzard they'd have found you at once—aren't you glad it snowed?"

"Considering that it almost meant that Noel and I froze to death, I can't say that I am," Cynthia retorted. "You're as bad as Louella. She acts as if I'd ordered the blizzard specially, and got lost and hurt on purpose, and you seem to think that the whole thing was just a lark. I wish you'd both realize that it wasn't fun at all."

But after Cecile had gone she wondered about that statement. It hadn't been fun, of course. But the bad side of the adventure had been compensated for, in a way. She had had a wonderful talk with Noel when they sat there by the fire, hemmed in by the softly falling snow. She felt that she knew him better than she knew any other man in the world, even her own husband. Jim had never opened his heart to her as Noel had. They had never talked together of the inner, the important things of life. They had talked of the house his mother gave them, and of the way she had furnished it; of the money they would save, of the endless engagements that Jim's mother had insisted on their making and keeping, of material things, always.

She and Noel had talked of ideals, of hopes, of books and music, of "lovely, far off lands." He had made their exile a happy time that would be a beautiful memory, always.

She felt forlorn and wretched now without him. Her head and shoulder hurt far less than they had just after her accident, but without him to cheer her they made her far more miserable. She began to wonder why she had ever thought life particularly interesting.

Louella called at noon, made her even more uncomfortable than she had been before, and left for a bridge party.

"Of course everybody's talking about you," she assured Cynthia. "But after I've told them the truth at least the women whom I see this afternoon won't dare say anything that isn't true. The truth's bad enough, Heaven knows! What in the world you were thinking about to go off skiing at night is more than I can see. As soon as you're able to be up I'll give a tea for you; the sooner you go right out and face people, the better it will be."

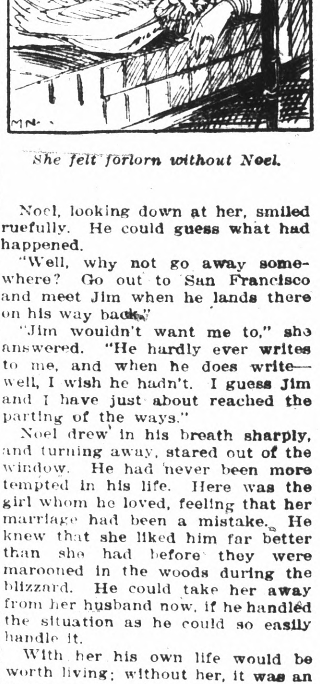
Cynthia sighed as the door slammed behind her. She had no desire to "go right out and face people"—these people for whose opinion she did not give a penny. Yet because she was Jim's wife she must try to get into their good graces.

She was lying on a chaise longue late in the afternoon, trying to convince herself that after all the game was worth the candle, when Noel was announced.

"Oh, I'm so glad to see you!" she cried as he strode across the room and laid a great bunch of yellow roses down beside her. "It's been a beastly day, and I hate the world."

"Of course you do, shut up here all alone, with a bum shoulder and a headache. The world's bound to look back. But you'll be better tomorrow, and in a day or two, when you're able to go out again—"

"I don't want to 'go out again' here, ever," Cynthia exclaimed, thinking of Louella's announcement that she must "go right out and face people." "I'd rather stay right here and not see anyone," she went on after a moment.



She felt forlorn without Noel.

"Well, why not go away somewhere? Go out to San Francisco and meet Jim when he lands there on his way back."

"Jim wouldn't want me to," she answered. "He hardly ever writes to me, and when he does write—well, I wish he hadn't. I guess Jim and I have just about reached the parting of the ways."

Noel drew in his breath sharply, and turning away, stared out of the window. He had never been more tempted in his life. Here was the girl whom he loved, feeling that her marriage had been a mistake. He knew that she liked him far better than she had before they were marooned in the woods during the blizzard. He could take her away from her husband now, if he handled the situation as he could so easily handle it.

For a moment longer he hesitated; then, picking up his hat, he glanced at his watch and turned again to her.

"Don't think that; just hang on a little longer, and you'll find that everything will be all right," he told her, and if his voice sounded strained and harsh she did not notice it. But when he had gone Cynthia buried her face in the lacy pillows and cried bitterly.

"Peter Pan" Who Wouldn't Grow Up At the California

There is hardly a man, woman or child in the land who doesn't know and love "Peter Pan," the boy who wouldn't grow up.

For the past twenty years this J. M. Barrie play has been nothing short of a sensation on the legitimate stage. It has become an instution, in fact—an institution that shows no sign of decay.

Barrie, the man with the most colorful imagination of all England's writers, has put into this classic scenes which could only be hinted at in the stage production of the piece.

But on the screen, it is an entirely different matter. In the Herbert Brenon production for Paramount of the Barrie master-piece, with Betty Bronson, Ernest Torrence, Cyril Chadwick, Virginia Brown Faire, Anna May Wong and others in the all star cast, the under ground home of the Little Lost Boys, Never Never Land itself, the Indians, fairies and pirates, the Darling home, dog-nurse and all have been reproduced with amazing fidelity on the screen.

"Peter Pan", which opens today at the California theatre is a scene for scene picturization of the story as the author wrote it.

Herbert Brenon was selected to direct the picture because he was the producer of the first two fantasies the screen ever knew. Roy Pomeroy who handled the technical end of the Cecil B. DeMille super-production, "The Ten Commandments" which stood the entire industry on end, is responsible for the many weird effects in "Peter Pan."

Esther Ralston, George Ali, Mary Brian, Philippe de Lacey and Jack Murphy complete the cast of players. "Peter Pan" as adapted for the screen by Willis Goldbeck.

Other features on the same program include "The Harem Scarem" a comedy scream; "International News"; Larry F. Canelo, at the organ

Plea For Coin For Survey Presented

With the return to San Francisco yesterday from Washington of W. A. Beard, definite information came to hand as to the status of the project for continuing the Lower Sacramento River Control Works survey.

Beard, who is president of the Sacramento Valley Development Association, went to Washington in the interests of this project as representative of the California Development Association with which the Sacramento Association is now consolidated.

With Senator Shortridge, Beard appeared before Secretary Work of the Department of the Interior and Dr. Edward Mead, commissioner of reclamation, and made formal request for an allotment of $15,000 for continuing the survey. This amount, it is understood, will be matched by an equal amount from this state or local sources, making a total fund of $30,000.

The projects contemplate a dam or barrier across Carquinez Straits. Three sites have been under study for several months and preliminary explorations by diamond drill have been completed. The Army Point-Bullshead Point site at the lower end of Suisun bay has been selected for further exploration and study.

Jap Earthquake Seen in "Torment" at Richmond Show

"Torment," Maurice Tourneur's newest production, which will be presented by M. C. Levee at the Richmond theatre today and tomorrow, is a timely offering in which the Japanese earthquake is an important factor.

The climax of the plot takes place when the characters of the story, a group of American crooks with their intended victims, are entombed in the vaults of the bank. Then the true character of each is brought out while an unusual romance develops.

The stage at the United Studios in Hollywood where the earthquake scenes were taken was reinforced to withstand the tons of falling walls and marble pillars following the first shock. Other shocks, with the players struggling in the debris, follow, and at the conclusion practically the entire set is destroyed.

The scenes staged by Mr. Tourneur, aside from their timeliness, are said to offer one of the most thrilling spectacles shown on the screen in recent years.

A number of players suffered minor injuries while working on these scenes, but nothing serious occurred, due to the carefully planned mechanics. Among the players participating were Owen Moore, Bessie Love, Jean Hersholt, Maude George, George Cooper, Morgan Wallace and Joseph Kilgour.

Other features on the same program include the fifth thrilling chapter of "The Santa Fe Trail" featuring Neva Gerber and Jack Perrin; "One Dark Knight" a Joe Rock comedy.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise no pumping up; is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, W. A. Johnson, 161 North Union Ave., Portland, Ore. is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

HARRY MARCUS TO OCCUPY NEW HALL BUILDING

Plans have been completed by the Odd Fellows Hall Association for the construction of the new lodge hall and department store building, the store rooms to be occupied by Harry Marcus, Inc., on Tenth street, between Macdonald and Nevin, according to announcement made yesterday.

Ground will be broken and actual work started within thirty days, it was announced. Harry Marcus will occupy the frst floor and the mezzaine floor and the second floor will contain offices at front and the lodge room at the rear. The third floor will be devoted to club rooms and a banquet hall.

The cost of the building will be $60,000, exclusive of the lots and furnishings, making a total investment of approximately $85,000.

Harry Marcus, president and manager of Harry Marcus, Inc., who is now conducting a store at 727 Macdonald avenue, will have complete charge of the new store. Other officers of the firm wll be elected at a meeting to be held this month.

The following departments to be among those included are: Dry goods, silks, notions, art goods, infants' wear, fancy goods, juvenile clothes, domestics, dress goods, linens, men's, women's and children's furnishings; clothing for men and boys, draperies, bedding, shoes for men, women and children; corsets, hosiery, gloves, men's hats and women's millinery. There also will be rest rooms for the public and separate rooms for men and women employees. Other departments will be added if space will permit. An Eastern buying office will be opened to supply the store with the newest merchandise.

Before coming to Richmond, Harry Marcus was for a number of years manager and buyer of several departments in the Emporium, San Francisco. Before going to the Emporium, he was employed as assistant manager with Bloomingdale Bros. Department Store in New York City. He received his training from cash boy up to manager and his experience gives him the necessary qualifications for conducting a department store that Richmond will be proud of.

It is the plan of the company to develop a large share of its business from among the surrounding communities and the extreme ends of the county, making Richmond a trade center for the entre county of Contra Costa. This will help all other merchants of Richmond by bringing new business to them.

County Work Doubled In Eight Years

Cost of government in Contra Costa county has increased 81.28 percent in the last two years but the duties of the various officers have been doubled in the same time, according to the report of J. O. Ford, grand jury expert, on file today with the inquisitorial body.

According to Ford's report the offices of the district attorney, county clerk and probation officer have seen the greatest increase of duties. Increase in crime has been the cause of the bulk of the additional work demanded of the district attorney and the probation officer, according to the expert's report.

A considerable portion of the increase in government cost is represented in the funds expended in enforcement of the prohibition law, the expert declares. He finds that the work of every county official has been virtually doubled in the last eight years.

Local Man Wins Damage Suit In Oakland Court

The suit for $50,000 brought by Mrs. A. B. Gaster, against Dr. A. B. Hinkley, Richmond chiropractor, alleged injuires said to have been sustained when she was struck by Dr. Hinkley's automobile on San Pablo avenue, Oakland, on November 8, 1923, was declared in favor of the defendant yesterday, after a few minutes of deliberation by a jury in the Alameda county superior court. The verdict returned was that Dr. Hinkley was not responsible for the accident, and refused to award damages to the woman.

Mrs. Gaster was represented at the trial by Daniel Ryan, San Francisco damage attorney, while Dr. Hinkley was represented by the local law firm of Pierce and Carlson.

Testimony at the trial brought out the fast that Mrs. Gaser had suffered severe injuries as a result of the accident. General opinion was that damages would be awarded to the woman. The defense held, however, that the woman had stepped directly in front of Dr. Hinkley's car, while he was driving on the right side of the street at a normal rate of speed. And that under the circumstances the accident could not be avoided. Mr. Gaster testified that the car was on the wrong side of the street when it struck her.

Attorney Wilbur Pierce was congratulated on having presented one of the ablest defense pleas heard in an Oakland court, by the jury, after it had returned the verdict.

In a game that was anybody's contest up to the last minute of play, the Kearney Furrer basketball team defeated the Mercury club, 30 to 29, at the Junior high school gym last night. In the other game of the evening, the Alberts, Inc. took the Santa Fe down the road to defeat, 15 to 10. A fair crowd was in attendance, and yelledt hemselves harse at the closeness of the play.

In the Kearney Furrer, Mercury club game, the murcury team had the game safely sewed up, it seemed, but toward the end they slowed up, with the result that in the last minute, Gillan of Mercurys, shot the deciding basket and won the game by one point.

Both teams played hard, with the edge in favor of the Kearney Furrer squad. But by hard fght, and a never say-die-spirit, the tide was turned in favor of the Kearney Furrer team.

For the winners Wright shot three baskets, and four fouls, for a total of 10 points. Gillan, with three baskets and two fouls divided honors with his teammate. And to the latter must go the honor of ringing the winning score.

Hutton, with four baskets, and Chattleton, with five baskets and two fouls, were the shining lights. The work of these two men was exceptionally good. But was it not in the cards for them to win.

Alberts squad out-played the Santa Fe team by a far greater margin than the score would indicate, but their basket shooting was poor. Time and time again, they would have opportunities to score, only to make a wild heave and have the ball bounce back into the court.

Usher, with two baskets and two fouls, making 6 points, was the high point man for the Alberts team. Meyer managed to ring two baskets. The outstandng feature of this game was the guarding of Keller of Alberts This boy stopped many a rally that looked good to tie the score.

For the Santa Fe squad Arthurs and R. Welsch were the stars. These two scored half the points made by their team.

The line-ups follows: Kearney Furrer: Wright, Gillan, Clay, Pasch, Schruber. Mercury club: Hutton, Morrison, Lee Huzefka Chattleton, Arnold, Vargas, Campbell, Huzefka and Hecker. Alberts: Usher, Cornell, Meyer, Roberts, Burg, Doneworth, Keller, Santa eF: Mendersee, Arthus, Hinot, R. Walch, I. Welch, Grande and DeSilva.

REMARKABLE SET SHOWN IN FILM AT CHURCH HERE

What is believed to be the most remarkable studio set ever designed for the making of a motion picture is one which fashioned during the filming of "The Tenth Commandment," a picturization of the famous Fannie Hurst story of the same name which will be shown Friday evening at the Wesley Methodist church, corner of Ninth and Nevin.

This particular set represents the interior of an up-to-date New York department store, so complete as to detail that it includes everything that is warranted to excite the fancy of a bargain hunting housewife.

Doors will be open at the Wesley church at 7 o'clock, and a "Big Sing" led by the pastor, Rev. C. G. Lindemann, will precede the picture. A silver offering is the only thing necessary to see the big production. People are urged to come early as many are turned away from these meetings every week on account of lack of accomodation.

There is not a single article which one might find in the largest metropolitan department store that is not included in this studio store, around which one of the most interesting episodes of the story is woven. When the scene was filmed, every special department was in focus of the camera.

The construction of this unique studio set was made necessary by the fact that the location is supposed to be in one of New York's big stores. No department store with a basement floor space of the required size and completeness could be found in Los Angeles and as this completeness of detail is vital to the story, Frank Borzage, who directed the picture, decided to construct a replica on a scale more lavish than ever before attempted for a similar scene.

We are not like the old colored parson who was told his services were no longer needed by the congregation.

He said: "What's the matter with my preachin'? Doesn't I argufy and sputify properly?" To which a member of the flock replied: "Yes, you argufies and sputifies—but you don't show wherein!" Now, when it comes to advertising the good points of our Bank, we are always glad to show "wherein" our bank is a good place for your funds. TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

In reciprocation of the wonderful cure effected through the medium of Dr. Wong Him's herbs and his thorough knowledge of every human ailment, I desire to state briefly the terrible sufferings experienced by myself for other thirty years, thus guiding anyone who may desire relief from attacks of any nature:

I had been afflicted with cancer and Bright's Disease, also catarrah of the head for a period of over thirty years. Learning of the extraordinary cures resulting from the herb treatments of Dr. Wong Him'. I decided to seek relief it possible through this course, being to some extent skeptical, due to failures of other eminent specialists to effect any amount of relief.

A complete treatment of the above herbs have resulted in relieving me entirely of these affliction and my head has been cleared of all traces of catarrh Pains in back and headaches have ceased and am again able to enjoy perfect health.

The above has been absolutely unsolicited and my only home is that same may prove of great benefit to all sufferers who may read it.

P. G. & E. PLAN BUSY YEAR IN IMPROVEMENTS

Believing that 1925 will be a banner year in this section of California and one of the best that Northern California has ever known, Pacific Gas and Electric Company is laying out an extensive construction and maintenance program.

Third Pit River Unit

This company's program calls for an expenditure of $33,721,000.00 of which amount $17,821,000. will be spent in the year just beginning. Early next July the Pit No. 3 plant of the Great Chain of Hydro-Electric Developments on the Pit River in Shasta County will be in operation and adding 1,000,000 Killowatt hours of electrical energy daily to the company's output, but long before this plant is completed hundreds of men will be at work on the Pit No. 4 plant. This No. 4 plant calls for a tunnel four miles long, a big diversion dam, a surge chamber, three Pennstock lines and a Power House with an installed capacity of 135,000 horsepower. $2,500,000 of the $15,000,000. that Pit No. 4 will cost will be spent in 1925.

The growing cities and towns of Northern California are continually demanding new equipment, additional machinery for Power Houses, substations, line extensions etc. New ware houses and garages and shops are to be built to speed up the company's work.

Plans Include All District

All Divisions and Districts will get new work and additions to meet the fast growing demands. In Shasta Division $905,000. will be spent for a new substation at Cottonwood and the lines that will bring additional power from the California-Oregon Company. The substations at Red Bluff, Reseville and Livermore are to be reconstructed. In the East Bay territory nearly a million and a half dollars will be spent in the construction of new substations. In the Sacramento District, Vaca-Dixon improvements, including the largest condenser ever constructed in California will cost $900,000.00. San Francisco additions to the new Martin Substation will take $660,000.00 and $236,000.00 will be devoted to new feeder lines.

Gas Department.

The gas department will have an equally busy year. It has before it the task of setting up generating equipment with a daily capacity of 20,000,000 cubic feet and of laying 600 miles of pipes. Additional gas generating equipment will be installed at San Francisco, Oakland, San Rafael and Sacrmento. A new gas holder is planned for Chico, all of which will require an coutlay of $5,500,000.

Big Growth, New Consumers

It will be necessary to take care of demands of 25,000 new gas customers. In the electric department 35,000 new customers are regarded as certain but the number may run far higher, so fast is Northern California growing.

When Back Hurts Flush Out Kidneys

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water— you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Mrs. Hugh B. Bradford of Sacramento, president of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associatons, will conduct a regular executive board meeting in Los Angeles Tuesday, January 13, at the headquarters of the Y. Her itinerary embraces points in the counties of San Diego, Orange, San Bernardino, Kern, Ventura, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles.

The urgency of lining up all friendly forces to the end that the 1925 state legislature will ratify the proposed federal child labor amendment will be pointed out by Mrs. Bradford. In this way she will round out the campaign of education against continued child slavery now being directed by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

At that time the Fresno federation, headed by Mrs. Henry Droge, will be hostess group for delegates of this organization, now totaling 95,000 members.
